ENGLISH SUMMARY
URBAN AND RURAL DEVELOPMENT

06 Reinforce the Supervisory System in Urbanrural Planning and Fulfill the Supervisor's

The urban-rural planning and construction is an indispensable part of social modern construction with relation to the entire national economy in sustained, rapid and sound development. The supervisory system in urban-rural planning is an essential intension for the implementation of scientific development conception and a significant guarantee to maintain stable and rapid economic development, yet appropriate system designing needs the best person's enforcement. A successful fulfillment of the supervisor's role is key to full play of the advantage of the supervisory system in urban-rural planning.

18 Cut the Buck Devoted to the Supervision of Urban-rural Planning

According to the duties under the Urban-rural Planning Law, the Ministry of Housing and Urban-Rural Development decided to dispatch urban-rural planning supervisors to 106 cities under the State Council's urban master planning nationwide. 83 supervisors by 5 batches have been dispatched to 70 cities since 2006, covering all provincial capitals, municipalities with independent planning status and famous historic and cultural cities (excluding municipalities directly under the Central Government) under the State Council's overall urban planning. The dispatching to all cities are planned to complete in two years.

46 Tianjin: Implementation of Water Environment Rehabilitation to Build an Ecological Livable Highland

Water environment is an important basis for urban eco-environment. The implementation of water environment rehabilitation project, preservation of clear water resource and friendly water ecology are significant activities following a scientific approach of development, important contents to build ecological livable highland, and "grateful projects" to improve the living environment and well-being of the people. Over the years, the Tianjin municipal party committee and government attach great importance to the construction of municipal ecological environment, with the priority of river regulation, sewage treatment and water environmental enhancement in urban construction. The overall quality of water environment is far improved.

68 Analysis of Improving Low-come Housing Access System

Nowadays, it is quite common that middle and high classes live in low-income houses in many cities, and news and complaints about false purchase of economic affordable housing and false tenement are reported from time to time. It is imperative to improve the low-income housing access system, strictly define the beneficiaries of housing subsidy, strengthen source management of application and approval of subsidized house and avoid speculation.
