Preparation of Fe@Si/S-34 Catalysts and Its Catalytic Performance for Syngas to Olefins

Chen, Zhiping*; Meng, Yongle; Lu, Jing; Zhou, Wenwu*; Yang, Zhiyuan; Zhou, Anning

Acta Chim. Sinica 2023, 81(1), 14-19

The inhibition of WGS (water-gas shift) reaction by hydrophobic Fe-based Fischer-Tropsch catalyst and the promotion of C<sub>5+</sub> hydrocarbon cracking in Fischer-Tropsch products by SAPO-34 molecular sieve were coupled. The new catalyst can not only reduce the selectivity of CO<sub>2</sub> in Fischer-Tropsch synthesis products, but also improve the selectivity of C<sub>2</sub>~C<sub>4</sub> olefins. Under the conditions of  $p=2$  MPa, GHSV (gas hourly space velocity)=2400 h<sup>-1</sup>,  $n(\text{H}_2)/n(\text{CO})=2$ ,  $T=320$  °C, the conversion of CO was 80.0%, the selectivity of CO<sub>2</sub> in the product was only 8.9%, and the selectivity of C<sub>2</sub>~C<sub>4</sub> olefins was 31.1%. This method provides a new strategy for the direct synthesis of light olefins by Fe-based Fischer-Tropsch synthesis catalyst.

Enantiomers Identification of Penicillamine by Chiral Mono-Schiff Base Macrocycles

Tian, Xiaomao; Lin, Yuequn; Zhu, Han; Huang, Chao*; Zhu, Bixue*

Acta Chim. Sinica 2023, 81(1), 20-28

Two enantiomers of the mono-Schiff base macrocycle containing chiral NH moiety in the cyclic structure (C<sub>R</sub> and C<sub>S</sub>) were synthesized. The binding affinity and enantioselectivity of the cyclic enantiomers toward small molecules penicillamine (D-Pen and L-Pen) were investigated. Further, investigation of ultraviolet visible (UV-Vis), hydrogen nuclear magnetic resonance (<sup>1</sup>H NMR) and circular dichroism (CD) spectroscopic titration indicate that the penicillamine with the same chirality as the host macrocycle binds stronger with the host than its enantiomer with the host.

Advances in Organocatalytic Asymmetric Reactions Involving Thioesters

The advances in organocatalytic asymmetric reactions involving thioesters are summarized in this review. According to the types of thioester substrates, these advances are classified to two types. One type is the organocatalytic asymmetric reactions with enolizable thioesters such as trifluoroethyl thioesters, malonic acid half-thioesters (MAHTs), monothiomalonates (MTMs) and dithiomalonates (DTMs). For these reactions, noncovalent interactions between catalysts and thioesters, including hydrogen bonding and ion pair interaction, have been used to promote the reaction and to achieve the high enantioselectivity. Another type is the catalytic asymmetric reactions with  $\alpha,\beta$ -unsaturated thioesters. For the reaction of this type, various chiral organocatalysts, including chiral amines, ureas, NHC (N-heterocyclic carbene), isothiourea, amidine and others, not only activate the thioester substrates, but also control the enantioselectivity well through covalent and non-covalent bonds. Meanwhile, the mechanism of representative transformations will be briefly introduced and at last, the perspective in this area will be given.
